

Name: _____ () Class: _____ Date: _____

Unit 2 Study and school life

Pronouns and possessive determiners (Set A)

Read the following email written by Chris to his friend Joshua. Complete the email by underlying the correct forms of the pronouns in the brackets.

Hi Joshua,

How are you doing? It's been months since you left Hong Kong and I bet you have settled down pretty comfortably in (1. you / your / yours) new school in London.

Everyone in the basketball team miss you very much. The team without you is so different! Ben has taken up your position, but his leadership style is very different from yours. We are still struggling to keep up. Jeremy, our best shooting guard, has left the team. He did not tell (2. other / others / the other) why he did not want to play with (3. we / us / ours). Since he and I knew each (4. other / others / the other) very well, he told me that he quit the team because he could not get along with Ben.

The Inter-school Basketball Competition is coming soon. We'll play against St Andrew's College in the preliminary round. Do you remember Howard? I hear that he is still their point guard. He is really the fastest player we've ever seen. If it wasn't for (5. he / him / his), we would have won the match last year. We certainly don't want to lose to (6. they / their / them) again. I hope Ben has a strategy!

Starting from (7. this / that / these) month, we have training sessions every Monday, Wednesday and Friday after school. But we can't play well even with so much training! Ben's mind is not in sync with (8. his / mine / ours). I think we need to work on (9. our / my / their) relationship so that we can play better as a team. We're going to have a barbecue party at Pat's place (10. this / that / these) coming Saturday and I hope everything will work out in the end.

Write back soon.

Best wishes,
Chris

Name: _____ () Class: _____ Date: _____

Unit 2 Study and school life

Pronouns and possessive determiners (Set B)

Read the following email written by Chris to his friend Joshua. Fill in the blanks with suitable pronouns or possessive determiners.

Dear Joshua,

How are you doing? It's been months since you left Hong Kong and I bet you have settled down pretty comfortably in (1) _____ new school in London.

Everyone in the basketball team miss you very much. The team without you is so different! Ben has taken up your position, but his leadership style is very different from yours. We are still struggling to keep up. Jeremy, our best shooting guard, has left the team. He did not tell (2) _____ why he did not want to play with (3) _____. Since he and I knew each (4) _____ very well, he told me that he quit the team because he could not get along with Ben.

The Inter-school Basketball Competition is coming soon. We'll play against St Andrew's College in the preliminary round. Do you remember Howard? I hear that he is still their point guard. He is really the fastest player we've ever seen. If it wasn't for (5) _____, we would have won the match last year. We certainly don't want to lose to (6) _____ again. I hope Ben has a strategy!

Starting from (7) _____ month, we have training sessions every Monday, Wednesday and Friday after school. But we can't play well even with so much training! Ben's mind is not in sync with (8) _____. I think we need to work on (9) _____ relationship so that we can play better as a team. We're going to have a barbecue party at Pat's place (10) _____ coming Saturday and I hope everything will work out in the end.

Write back soon.

Best wishes,

Chris

Name: _____ () Class: _____ Date: _____

Unit 2 Study and school lifePronouns and possessive determiners (Set A)

Read the following email written by Chris to his friend Joshua. Complete the email by underlying the correct forms of the pronouns in the brackets.

Dear Joshua,

How are you doing? It's been months since you left Hong Kong and I bet you have settled down pretty comfortably in (1. you / your / yours) new school in London.

Everyone in the basketball team miss you very much. The team without you is so different! Ben has taken up your position, but his leadership style is very different from yours. We are still struggling to keep up. Jeremy, our best shooting guard, has left the team. He did not tell (2. other / others / the other) why he did not want to play with (3. we / us / ours). Since he and I knew each (4. other / others / the other) very well, he told me that he quit the team because he could not get along with Ben.

The Inter-school Basketball Competition is coming soon. We'll play against St Andrew's College in the preliminary round. Do you remember Howard? I hear that he is still their point guard. He is really the fastest player we've ever seen. If it wasn't for (5. he / him / his), we would have won the match last year. We certainly don't want to lose to (6. they / their / them) again. I hope Ben has a strategy!

Starting from (7. this / that / these) month, we have training sessions every Monday, Wednesday and Friday after school. But we can't play well even with so much training! Ben's mind is not in sync with (8. his / mine / ours). I think we need to work on (9. our / my / their) relationship so that we can play better as a team. We're going to have a barbecue party at Pat's place (10. this / that / these) coming Saturday and I hope everything will work out in the end.

Write back soon.

Best wishes,
Chris

Name: _____ () Class: _____ Date: _____

Unit 2 Study and school life

Pronouns and possessive determiners (Set B)

Read the following email written by Chris to his friend Joshua. Fill in the blanks with suitable pronouns or possessive determiners.

Dear Joshua,

How are you doing? It's been months since you left Hong Kong and I bet you have settled down pretty comfortably in (1) your new school in London.

Everyone in the basketball team miss you very much. The team without you is so different! Ben has taken up your position, but as we all know, he is not a good leader. We are still struggling to keep up. Jeremy, our best shooting guard, has left the team. He did not tell (2) others why he did not want to play with (3) us. Since he and I knew each (4) other very well, he told me that he quit the team because he could not get along with Ben.

The Inter-school Basketball Competition is coming soon. We'll play against St Andrew's College in the preliminary round. Do you remember Howard? I hear that he is still their point guard. He is really the fastest player we've ever seen. If it wasn't for (5) him, we would have won the match last year. We certainly don't want to lose to (6) them again. I hope Ben has a strategy!

Starting from (7) this month, we have training sessions every Monday, Wednesday and Friday after school. But we can't play well even with so much training! Ben's mind is not in sync with (8) ours. I think we need to work on (9) our relationship so that we can play better as a team. We're going to have a barbecue party at Pat's place (10) this coming Saturday and I hope everything will work out in the end.

Write back soon.

Best wishes,

Chris